

Angels in Scrubs

“Dedicated, with Gratitude, to all in the Nursing Profession.”

*Through the quiet of the night
In Winter’s still cold,
They go forth to aid a neighbor,
One infirm, aged; a life, full told.*

*After such challenging work, weary,
But committed to do their best,
They return home once again,
To their families, and to rest.*

*An Angel on Earth,
To bring comfort and care,
To those who understand,
And to those unaware.*

*In a world confused of the difference Between “What is wrong and What is right”
The Angels remain vigilant,
And then, once again,
Go out in the night.*

*Through all hours and all days
In a world set apart,
Each Angel shares their love,
Each Angel shares their heart.*

*And what great riches exist
When one is selfless
So another is appeased?
God smiles upon each Angel and says,
“In you, My child,
I am very well pleased.”*
