

The Angels Come Forth

...And the days came when special children needed great care.

The Lord looked across the land and said. "Who will help care for the children?" There was no response.

Again, the Lord said, "Who will come forth to assist the children and the loving families to whom they were given?"

At first there was once again silence. And then, quietly, one Angel stepped forth, and then another. And then, a host of Angels appeared in response to the Lord's call.

Their eyes shone bright, their wings unfolding into a sea of white. They raised their heads and their hands to the Lord, and in unison made a solemn vow.

"Lord, with these hands, we shall care for the children. With our hearts, we shall have compassion for their families. With our minds, we shall learn all that we need to know to tend to this great task. With our voice, we shall speak only Truth, and with our Spirit and through our touch, we shall do as you ask."

And so, the Angels spread across the land and joined the children and their families. Together, within the Radiance of His Love, the children received the loving care so ordained by God.